Today's Leader

The national newsletter has the official name of "Today's Leader." It is published every other month with information that covers all areas of the national organization.

The national secretary handles the copying and mailing of the newsletter. The secretary and president set postmarked deadlines for articles at the beginning of the year. Date of publication is generally the first of the month for July, September, November, January, March and May.

Newsletters are automatically sent to the following recipients:

- All members of the USWT Board of Directors (state presidents, elected officers, program managers, directors, and appointed officers)
- All past national presidents
- Liaison personnel to nationally-endorsed foundation(s)
- All member chapters
- USWT Ambassador President
- USWT Foundation President

Other newsletters are mailed on a subscription basis only. The secretary provides the president with a subscription list for her files. Checks for subscriptions are made payable to the "United States Women of Today" and sent to the national secretary. Subscription costs are set by the Finance Committee and are published regularly by the national secretary. The national president may authorize the mailing of newsletters as long as it is within reason. For example, it may be sent to out-of-state contacts for a three-month trial basis.

National officers are expected to submit articles; these articles should be written with an informational/educational approach similar to a regular newspaper. State organizations are also encouraged to submit information about activities at least once per year. The local chapters may be asked to submit to a specific issue, designated at the beginning of the year by the national secretary and president.

Ways & Means Items

All national ways and means products are available through the national treasurer. Products will be available at the Mid-Year and Annual Conventions or may be ordered through the mail. The national store's merchandise is also catalogued on the USWT website. The national treasurer will prepare an order form. All orders must be accompanied by payment (checks payable to the "United States Women of Today") and the person placing the order will pay shipping charges.

United States Women of Today Membership

ROAR: Membership Components

Recruitment

The purpose of recruitment is to share the Women of Today experience with friends, neighbors, co-workers, and even strangers. In recruiting new members, we will grow and flourish as an organization. The influx of new members allows new ideas, new leaders and more help with projects. Components of recruitment include the following:

Public Relations is the art of helping the public to understand what our organization does and encouraging the public to regard our efforts positively. It is designed to influence as large a segment of the public as possible at any one time with the message selected to share.

Marketing involves determining the needs of select or target audiences and then designing goods, services and opportunities that respond to those needs. It relies heavily on designing the organization's offering in terms of the target markets' needs and desires, and on using effective pricing, communication, and distribution to inform, motivate, and service the markets.

Recruitment is the act of identifying groups and individuals for service, and then actually asking them to become members.

While public relations, marketing and recruitment are not synonymous; they do support each other and benefit the overall mission of our organization. When the public knows the name and service provided by our organization, people are more likely to remember our organization when they think about serving. When employed properly, marketing strategies can help target a recruitment campaign to the people who are most likely to say, "Yes!"

So, how do you recruit? That depends on how much time you have, where you are, and how much time you want to spend at that moment with each person. There are a great many situations for how you will be recruiting. Feel free to do it your way, as long as you follow the general outline: Listen. Don't sell.

Motivation

It is useful to think about the possible motivations that people might have for becoming volunteers. This can help you to design volunteering opportunities and influence your recruitment message. Motivations for volunteering might include:

- Commitment to a cause – emphasize how their contribution will make a difference
- Meeting people – membership can be a very sociable activity!
- Gaining skills – when recruiting stress the skills and experience that members can gain
- Utilizing existing skills – some people want to put their skills to a good cause

Word of Mouth

Existing members recruit most new members. Make sure every member participates in the recruiting process, and know the opportunities. A brainstorming session can be run to identify prospective members. It can also be useful to map possible sources of recruits in the local area. Of course, if your existing members are happy and motivated they will be more effective in recruiting their friends! It is particularly useful in smaller communities. Word-of-mouth is still the most effective method of recruiting. Keep in mind that you are likely to recruit "more of the same" – existing members will tend to recruit people similar to themselves, so if you rely on word of mouth alone your members might not be very diverse.

Print

Posters can spread your message to a wider audience. Leaflets or postcards are a handy and attractive way of providing information to potential recruits. When designing printed information remember the principles of your recruitment message. Keep it simple, and reflect the nature of the volunteering opportunities in your design. You should also consider who your target audience is. Printed information can be targeted at particular audiences; eye-catching designs can create a good image for our organization. Furthermore, printed materials are becoming increasingly cheap and easy to produce. On the other hand, printed information tends to circulate for a long time – inquiries may come long after the details have gone out of date; and also remember posters and leaflets are unlikely to have much impact unless people already know about our organization.

Public Speaking, Events & Projects

Once you have identified a possible source of new recruits you need to take your message to them. Setting up a talk or presentation might take some time – you will need to persuade the host (be it a school, an employer or whatever) that your information will be of real interest. But it can produce good results. Try to be as well briefed as possible about the people you will be talking to and what is likely to appeal to them about membership. Remember the principles of your recruitment message! Visual images such as photographs or a video can aid a presentation, but real, live members are the most effective inspiration. Make sure you bring printed information to support your presentation, giving people the chance to go away and think before committing themselves. Be clear about how people can get involved or find out more if they are interested.

Public Speaking gets you seen, and provides the opportunity of face-to-face recruitment. Remember, public speaking can be a lot of work without a guaranteed return, and can be expensive and labor-intensive.

An event such as Founder's Day or Volunteer Week is a great chance to recruit new members. You might have an exhibition stand in a shopping center or stage a public relations stunt to attract publicity. There are many places and events at which booths can be set up, including: main street, local library, festivals and carnivals, career and recruitment fairs. You will probably need to get local council permission to do this.

Local Press and Radio

Events such as Make A Difference Day also provide an opportunity to get coverage in the local media. Coverage in the local media might range from feature articles to brief news stories. Try to build a good relationship with local newspapers, television and radio stations. Stress the "human interest" of local people getting involved to help the community. A steady stream of coverage about your organization, its work and its volunteers, can help to raise your profile and thereby aid recruitment. Press coverage can also be used as a form of public recognition for volunteers' work.

You can also advertise for members in the local press. Do your research and find out what sort of people are likely to see the advertisement. Tailor your message accordingly – for example, stressing the skills and experience that can be gained. There is also a wide range of media specialists in which you might consider advertising or seeking coverage. Company newsletters, professional and trade journals are particularly useful if you are seeking someone with specialized skills.

Local Businesses

When assessing your local area for possible sources of recruits you might well come across local companies whose employees are eager to get involved. You might be able to recruit individual employees or groups. It will help if you can get the support of someone senior in the company to allow you to address a staff meeting. Once employees are volunteering, the company might also be willing to offer other kinds of support.

Orientation

The purpose of orientations is to encourage new members to become an active part of your group as soon as possible. By relating the Women of Today story and presenting a good understanding of our history and purpose, you enable new members to find a place in our group much more quickly. Well-planned orientation programs assist in activation and keeping high retention within the organization.

Orientation begins when a member joins your chapter and ends when that person is an active, enthusiastic member of our group. In this period, this member should have the opportunity to: learn the history of the Women of Today, learn about how the local, state and national levels of the organization intertwine; learn the functions, purposes and goals of all levels; learn what Women of Today offers to each member; meet officers and members of the local chapter; become acquainted with local projects and events; pair up with a seasoned member of the local chapter; and find at least one opportunity to begin immediately.

It is possible for much of this information to be acquired through active participation over a period of two to three years. It is more probable, however, that unless a definite orientation program is developed, most of your members will know very little about the organization.

Orientation Program Outline

Plan a time, date and place for your orientation. Personally invite all new members. Prepare an outline (see suggestion below), and follow it. Prepare materials in advance for the new members. Provide light refreshments.

I. Local Chapter

- Purpose of the Organization
- Member Opportunities
- Member Benefits
- Expectations of Members
- Officers and Duties
- Committee Chair responsibilities and duties
- Types of Projects
(categories and examples should be given)

II. State & National Organization

- History
 - Purpose and Goals
 - Organizational Structure
 - How the local chapter relates to the state and national levels
 - Officers and duties
 - Projects and Conventions
- III: STEP I Certification

Activation

The purpose of activation is to keep members interested in the organization. Use the STEP Program. Ask members who have not done anything for a while to co-chair projects or simply work on them. Encourage all members to attend meetings by making meetings fun. If members have never really become active after six (6) months, repeat an orientation. Make sure all members receive a monthly newsletter. Establish a calling committee for meetings and projects that will be constant reminders to all members of the chapter's events.

Retention

The purpose of retention is also to keep members interested in the organization, but further the process of keeping your membership base growing. Utilize STEP II & III programs. Get members active in projects, and encourage meeting attendance. For those members who are "seasoned," promote officer or LPM positions. Encourage these members to attend district, state and national meetings. Make sure all members receive a monthly newsletter. Hold membership socials on a quarterly basis to form friendship bonds that may encourage members to stay a part of the organization. If you haven't seen a seasoned member for a while, have the chapter president or board members send out notes to these members letting them know they are missed. Honor these members, and all members, with awards, incentives and recognition when appropriate. Finally, be sure to hold renewal ceremonies any time a member agrees to renew their membership with our organization – in this fashion; you are thanking them and honoring them individually for being a part of our great organization.

Retention Ideas For Those Who Have Not Renewed

Make membership everybody's responsibility by utilizing your chapter board or by developing a membership team to help find this information out in your chapter: Review members whose dues are due the next quarter. Talk about them – what is their level of activity? What can be done to ensure these members will renew? However, if a member does not renew, take the following steps:

- Find out why they left. Call members who have not renewed. Ask for details about why they left, and do not get defensive when they tell you. Record answers and compare them with others making similar calls.
- Build a plan to routinely check on membership turnover. Work to understand why people leave and then put plans into place to remove things that drive people away.
- Take the time to get to know your members. You inspire your group one individual at a time. Take an active interest in learning about your people, and you will learn what motivates them.
- Be sure your members know exactly what you expect – the outcomes, not the how-tos. Then get out of the way and let them perform.
- Change tasks to meet needs. If time commitment is the issue for the member, find new and innovative ways to involve them on a short term or periodic basis, so they stay on as members. If members want to participate on one project a year, then let them do that without back lashing them for not fully participating.
- At your board meetings have an attitude report. At a designated meeting the board member reports on the individual members they are assigned.
- Rotate having board members being assigned to new members. Have a quick overview at your board meeting about the new members – who they are, where they work, why they joined, etc.
- Ask the former member for a second chance. Apologize and offer to correct a problem. Make some type of peace offering (i.e., membership discount).

Extensions

An extension is the establishment of a new Women of Today chapter. Extensions are vital – not only for the state and national organization, but for your chapter, too. Working on an extension will provide an opportunity to learn how to recruit members for a new chapter as well as your own. It will energize you and your chapter, and provide new friends.

Doing an extension is like “selling” Women of Today. You must believe in the organization with all your heart. If you don’t, you will not be successful. Others will only think an extension is an important element if it is discussed frequently and enthusiastically. Use every opportunity to remind members about the importance of extensions.

Once members are interested in doing an extension, a commitment must be made. File an Intent to Extend form, and send it to the USWT Extensions Director before an extension is started. A new form will need to be filed for each calendar year the extension is not complete. Keep receipts from expenses to apply for funding reimbursement upon completion of the extension, and file an Application for Funding with the USWT when the extension is completed to help with up to $30 in expenses. Copies of these forms can be found in the forms section of this manual or the Extension Manual.

Locate areas around your chapter, in your state or in a new state where an extension would be probable. Research with the community’s local organizations and businesses is used to create a list of prospective member names. Once a mailing list is created, send out invitations to informational meetings.

Seldom are extensions completed after one meeting. Decide now that no matter what obstacles are encountered, the extension efforts will continue until the extension is complete. If you would like more information on how to run an extension, there are officers and materials from the state and national level that are available. The following is a listing of information available from the national organization.

Updated Brochures: Brochures that will explain the purpose and basic projects of Women of Today can be mailed to prospective members, handed out at booths, or supplied at informational meetings. USWT brochures are available through the national store.

PSA: Public Service Announcement is available through a professionally produced video, which can be run on television stations. The targeted purpose of this PSA will be to introduce Women of Today to a new community. It is an excellent forerunner to the informational meeting.

Extensions Manual & Media Kit: Information that will help get an extension started in a community is supplied to all who submit an Intent to Extend. This public relations tool includes sample press releases, sample posters, sample invitations, and flyers describing how to do cold calling, how to approach local media, and much more.

Futures Report: Investors are interested in the futures market; Women of Today who have an investment in our future will be interested in this report. It is a listing of contacts and prospective members, compiled in a report and given to each state. You are needed to make this report possible – send names on the Futures Report form.

When the extension is done, be sure to notify the state and national extensions director, and file a New Chapter Form. At this point your extension efforts are not ended – you will need to make a two-year commitment to the new chapter. You will need to make certain that good management practices are in place and proper training is given to the new chapter’s officers.

Public Relations

The area of Public Relations can be challenging, yet very rewarding. The position of public relations director is a very important position. This is the person who has been entrusted with the promotion of our organization. You can do as much or as little as you wish with the public relations area, but the more you do, the more we are recognized and known thus opening our doors for our organization and its efforts to make the world a better place. The following is a listing of information your chapter should develop:

Fact Sheets: A fact sheet should be prepared on the national, state or local president. Information on how long this president has been a member, the positions held, honors won, and goals and ideas for the future of the organization. A fact sheet on the organization should also be prepared. This should state the mission of the organization, foundations supported, leadership personnel, meeting information, and contact person.

Media List: These are used for the purpose of sending out press releases, advertising and articles. News releases should be sent out for all award winners and elections results. Each local chapter should provide a listing of newspapers, radio and television stations, contact people, addresses and phone numbers to the state and national public relations director. This list should be added to the state and national media lists and updated annually to reflect changes.

Promotional programs should be run for Founder's Day (July 1), Women of Today Week (the last full week in September), Volunteer Recognition Week (date in April to be determined by the Points of Light Foundation), and Make A Difference Day (last Saturday in October). Use your creativity to determine what your chapter or state can do for these events or special days.

Another source of tips and ideas is the information that is distributed by the USWT PR Director to the state public relations contacts. Some of the Women of Today events will have special activities already determined by the national or state public relations director. You can use these activities or make your own additional plans. Another excellent source is the USWT Public Relations Manual. Every chapter should have one or you can order one through the national store.

No matter what the event or activity, make public relations a part of everything you do. Submit a press release to your local newspaper or public service announcements to your local radio station, have your chapter president appear on your local cable station, have a window display in the library or a store window, wear your chapter shirts or nametags at every chapter event, post flyers everywhere! The possibilities are endless! Our best public relations tool is YOU! Be excited about this great organization and tell other people about it. Public relations is everyone's job.

Public Relations Awards

One of the most important aspects of any project is public relations. The success of a project is directly affected by a good public relations campaign. To recognize those efforts, the following public relations awards will be given out by the USWT Public Relations Director. These forms can also be found in the USWT forms section at the end of this manual. ALL YEAR-END NOMINATION FORMS MUST BE RECEIVED NO LATER THAN MAY 1 TO BE CONSIDERED FOR RECOGNITION AT ANNUAL CONVENTION.

- Founder's Day – Should postmarked no later than the due date listed on the form.
- Shout Out with Pride – Should be postmarked no later than the due date listed on the form.
- Buckets of Sunshine- Should be postmarked no later than the due dated listed on the form.
- Outstanding State Public Relations Chair – This year-end award will go to the outstanding state chair, manager, or director for Public Relations. State vice presidents, or state presidents may make nominations.
- Outstanding Local Public Relations Chairman – This year-end award will be presented to a local, district, regional or area public relations chair or manager. Local chapter presidents, state public relations contacts, state vice presidents, or state presidents may nominate members.
- Outstanding State Public Relations Campaign – This year-end award will be presented to the member state(s) for outstanding efforts in the area of public relations. Consideration will be given for participation in nationally promoted areas as well as promotion of the state's awards and activities. State public relations contacts, state vice presidents, or state presidents may submit nominations.
- Outstanding Local Public Relations Campaign – This year-end award will be presented to the local chapter(s) for outstanding efforts in the area of public relations. Consideration will be given for participation in nationally promoted areas as well as promotion of the local chapter's awards and activities. Nominations may be submitted by state contacts or by the chapter.

Buckets of Sunshine

At the US Women of Today year-end convention in June 1996 in St. Louis, the Buckets of Sunshine program was born. Since 1996, the United States Women of Today have promoted Buckets of Sunshine as a national project. The goal of the program was to provide "buckets" filled with personal care products to local crisis centers (particularly focused towards women and children). Another one of the goals of Buckets of Sunshine is to have a donation campaign that the public can align with Women of Today. It allowed every chapter in the United States to work towards a common goal and to create media attention for our organization at the same time.

The Buckets of Sunshine project varies year to year. Once the project has been completed in your chapter, fill out a Buckets of Sunshine Participation Form and mail it to the current USWT Public Relations Director.

How to Conduct a Buckets of Sunshine Project

1. Appoint a project chairperson and a committee.
2. Choose an agency in your community where families in crisis seek help.
3. Decide on the "buckets" (type of containers) for your donation items and the contents for the buckets. Contents could range from personal care products to school supplies to baby items. Use your imagination or contact the agency to determine the types of items their clients need. How will you acquire the necessary items? Here are some suggestions:

- a. Seek donations from local merchants and manufacturers
 - b. Hold a special fundraiser and designate money raised to purchase items
 - c. Have chapter members donate items
 - d. Use funds from chapter treasury to purchase items (set a budget)
 - e. Set up collection points in local businesses, schools or public buildings
4. Have a committee meeting to finalize plans for purchasing/picking up items, assembling buckets and donating buckets to the facility. Write local newsletter articles if necessary.
 5. Collect all items and assemble buckets. Be sure to include a note explaining that this bucket is part of a kindness chain and ask the recipient to keep the chain going by doing something nice for someone else. Also be sure to include a copy of your chapter brochure.
 6. Prepare a press release. The sample press release below is for when you run a Buckets of Sunshine project in conjunction with Make a Difference Day. However, your chapter can choose any day to share Buckets of Sunshine.

The day is the largest community service effort in the nation, rallying corporations, government leaders, charitable organizations and everyday Americans into action on one day. To participate in this national day of volunteerism, Women of Today chapters across the nation may choose to distribute "Buckets of Sunshine" in their local communities.

The focus of the "Buckets of Sunshine" project is to provide buckets of supplies such as personal care items and cleaning supplies to people in need. The _____ Women of Today are donating [include number of buckets, recipient, contents and other important facts].

The United States Women of Today chartered in 1985; during those years they have celebrated many successful educational and fundraising partnerships with other groups such as March of Dimes, Leukemia Society, Arthritis Foundation, Breast Cancer Awareness and other local causes. The United States Women of Today is an organization open to all persons at least 18 years of age interested in community service, personal enrichment and leadership training. If you are interested in learning more about our organization, please contact _____ at _____.

7. Contact the agency and local media to schedule a convenient time to deliver the buckets to the facility. Have a photo taken to accompany your press release.
8. Complete the USWT Buckets of Sunshine Participation Form and send it to USWT Public Relations Director.
9. Send thank you notes to any person/business who donated items for the buckets.

Web Development

Although the United States Women of Today have maintained a website since 1999, the national position of Webmaster was not established until June 2001. At the beginning of the 2001-2002 WT Year, only have 12.5% of all chapters maintained a website. In today's information era, a website is equally as important as a newsletter - and the reach is even greater. If your chapter maintains a website, your reach extends around the globe. If your chapter doesn't yet have a site, training materials are available online! It's a common myth that you have to be a computer "geek" (term used for people who know the computer inside and out) to have a site. That is simply not true. If you know how to put together a newsletter, you know enough!

Individual Membership Dues Procedures

Individual dues per member are $5. A Schedule of Dues Admissions (SODA) will be given to each state at the first of the year. This form includes the membership base, member chapters' bases, and the quarterly renewal numbers broken down into each of the four quarters. Quarterly Dues Billing will be sent to the states quarterly for the chapters indicating the number due. This form must be returned by the deadline indicated on the form. Information listed on the form include: chapter name, and the names, addresses, birthdates and social security numbers (optional) for all renewing members in that quarter. The Add and Change Form is provided to the states quarterly, and should be sent by the first of the month following the month the member was recruited. Information that is needed on this form include: state name; chapter name and number; member's name, address, birthdate, social security number (optional), and the recruiter's name. This form helps the state and national organization in recording all new members. All checks should be made out to the "United States Women of Today" and sent with the forms to the USWT Membership Vice President.

Submission of New and Renewing Member Dues

At the beginning of each year, a list of each state's membership figures, including the quarterly renewal figures, will be distributed to state presidents. THIS BASE WILL NOT BE ALTERED.

New members are to be submitted on a monthly basis. All new members for a given month should be mailed to the USWT Membership Vice President, postmarked no later than the first of the next month. In order to be applied to the month, the following must be provided: a check for $5 for each member submitted, information on the USWT Add and Change Form, and a monthly membership dues submission. ANYTHING POSTMARKED LATER THAN THE FIRST OF THE MONTH WILL BE FIGURED IN FOR THE NEXT MONTH. The only exception for the postmarked date would be if the first falls on a Sunday or holiday, then the postmarked date would be the second.

A quarterly dues billing statement will be sent by the contractor for dues billing to each state dues billing contact as indicated in the beginning of the current membership year. This form will indicate the number of members up for renewal in that quarter.

The state dues billing contact must complete the form for those renewing. The completed renewal information and the monthly membership dues submission, along with a check made payable to the "United States Women of Today" for $5, will be supplied for each renewing member and must be postmarked no later than the first of the next month. ANY MEMBERS NOT POSTMARKED BY THE FIRST OF THE NEXT MONTH WILL BE COUNTED AS DROPPED MEMBERS FOR THE ORIGINAL QUARTER, AND LATE RENEWALS ADDED TO THE NEXT QUARTER.

Important Notes Concerning Extraordinary Circumstances

1. When a chapter is dropped, YOU MANY NOT SIMPLY JUST WIPE OUT ANY OF THEIR MEMBERS. The dropped chapter's members must stay on the state's membership list until the quarter in which they are due. At that time, they would be counted as dropped members.
2. When a member transfers from one chapter to another, it can be handled internally. Simply subtract one (1) from the chapter base of which this member was a member, and add one (1) to the chapter base to where this member transferred. A transfer does not count as a new member, and should occur before the members quarterly due date. Should the transfer occur during the quarter in which the member is due, make sure the member pays the dues to the previous chapter, so the member is not lost in your renewal figures.
3. In the case of a member moving to another state, the national dues of $5 will transfer providing the member transfers during a quarter other than that in which the member is due. In the case of a move during the quarter in which the member is due, the national dues will transfer if the member pays the dues to the previous state. Any state dues do not transfer. The membership bases of the states involved would be adjusted to reflect the transfer.

State Buddy System

The national organization currently has 15 member states. Each state has individual needs. Many of the needs cannot be addressed from the standpoint of a “state,” but rather from a chapter perspective. Our membership and chapter bases fall into the following categories:

Chapters per State	Members	Number of Member States in this category
1	25 or less	5
2-4	30-80	4
5-10	140-265	4
11-16	200-285	4
Over 16	285 or more	1

The national staff is able to provide many of the needed materials and support to each state. Through the national newsletter, travel by the national staff, and communication from individual officers, the states are being reached. Though the national staff is able to provide contact, there is still a need for support beyond that with the national staff is capable of giving. A Buddy System is a one-on-one pairing of state presidents, along with an experienced volunteer from another state. Buddies will receive minimal funding. Guidelines are provided. The attention given to the state president will be determined by the relationship formed and by the needs as seen by the buddy.

Goals

1. To encourage state membership and chapter base growth.
2. To encourage participation in programming areas.
3. To increase awareness of the network between all levels of the organization.
4. To provide a support system specifically for states that need or want it.

The buddies are under the direction of the USWT Membership Vice President, who oversees the activity, and monthly reports by the buddies are sent to the UWST Membership VP and the national president. The national membership vice president will administer and supervise the program, and monitor, support and report on progress. This program is meant to enhance the already existing support provided by the national staff and sister-state programs.

Being A Buddy

We have experienced members who have the knowledge and background to assist states. Many of them are no longer serving in state or national position, but would like to stay active in the organization. There are also others who are serving in state or national positions, but still have energy left to participate in the program. Buddies are selected by personal invitation to participate in the betterment of our organization.

Sister State Program

The purpose of the Sister State program is to encourage fellowship among our state organizations. To participate, you may want to exchange newsletters, offer state theme kits at Mid-Year and Annual Conventions, or come up with some unique ideas. The state presidents or contacts should feel free to participate at any level, and can delegate this responsibility to a staff member, usually the secretary. You will find this a wonderful opportunity to learn more about the organization, your fellow states and chapters, and new projects, as well as membership and social ideas. But most importantly, have fun with it!

United States Women of Today Programming

The United States Women of Today have adopted five programming areas, one external and four internal. The purpose of the external program is to help people outside our organization; there are generally public awareness and educational programs run for this foundation. Each external programming area is selected for a three-year term. Foundations that the organization has endorsed includes: Cystic Fibrosis, March of Dimes, RESOLVE, the Lost Child Network, Multiple Sclerosis and Parents of Autistic Children. Foundations wishing to be considered for selection must prepare and submit a proposal. The guidelines for this procedure are included in the forms section of this manual. The internal programs are those that promote personal growth of our individual members. These programs include Focus on Women/Chaplain, Success Through Enthusiastic Participation (S.T.E.P), Personal Enrichment and Project Recognition.

Certification in Internal Programming Areas

There is a Verification for Certification form for states to provide information to the national program managers on all internal program certifications. To designate for which programming area the certifications cover, check the proper area at the top of the form. On the lower portion of the form is space to list the names and chapters of the certifying individuals.

NOTE: Either type or print legibly; this form is used to produce all USWT certificates, if it is not legible, there is a chance for names to be spelled incorrectly.

Certificates are provided to members who have completed the necessary requirements. Certifications should be sent to the national program manager on a monthly basis, instead of waiting for the quarter to end or just prior to a national convention. This allows the national program manager ample time to complete the certificates.

If certificates are requested for presentation at a particular time, the national program manager must receive them at least two (2) weeks prior to the date requested. The national program manager has the option to mail the certificates out to the states, or they may hold them for presentation/distribution at the national conventions.

Areas Under Programming

Project Recognition

All local chapters have projects they can do within their own community. By completing and submitting the Project Recognition entry, members can pass on this information to other chapters, and possibly receive recognition at the national level. After completing a detailed description of the project and how it was developed and conducted, chapters send four copies of each project recognition entry to the national programming vice president. After being reviewed by three judges, recognition is given for the top three projects in each of following areas:

- INTERNAL AREAS: Member Enrichment, Member Social, Ways & Means
- EXTERNAL AREAS: Fundraising, Service, Education

Each 4- to 6-page entry must be submitted, along with a $5 processing fee, postmarked September 1 for competition at Mid-Year Convention, and May 1 for competition at Annual Convention.

Focus on Women / Chaplain

On the national level, the FOW/Chaplain program manager is in charge of Fellowship Breakfasts, which occur on Sunday mornings during each national convention. The program manager is responsible for coordinating a theme for the breakfast with the national president and the convention committee. The program manager is also responsible for coordinating the invocations and benedictions for all convention meetings. Other duties throughout the year include sending cards to those in need at the request of the national president.

Focus on Women is a program designed to inform, educate and update members concerning a wide variety of topics. The benefit of this national program is that it is extremely flexible. A large assortment of subjects can be used providing members with a multitude of information

Consider appointing a program manager for this area in your chapter. This person will oversee the area and promote it to your membership. Many chapters find it is helpful to take a chapter survey of their members' interests. Keep in mind this may also include an inquiry as to in-chapter resources: members in the health profession, legal field, or special hobbies, etc. These members can be an excellent source of information.

The general topics that qualify under Focus on Women are: health issues, personal concerns, careers, economics, American involvement, lifestyles, and women's legacy. Please keep in mind that these topics cover a broad spectrum of subjects so that virtually any subject your chapter is interested in should qualify under this program. For example, under health you may want to pick a subject of interest to your chapter such as proper nutrition, new trends in medicine, or stress management. For more information about this programming area, refer to the Focus on Women Manual.

Focus on Women Year-End Essay Competition

Each year the national program manager creates a theme for this 800-1200 word essay. The essay must be double-spaced and submitted with four copies to the USWT Focus on Women Program Manager. There is a $5 fee for processing and must be postmarked by May 1. You are not required to attend Annual Convention to win; if you do however you may be asked to read your essay to convention attendees.

Personal Enrichment

Personal Enrichment is an area where a member has the opportunity to get a personal return for the investment in Women of Today. As volunteers we seem to always give, but Personal Enrichment is our chance to reap the rewards of our investments of time, talent and energy. This program consists of the following major areas: Effective Speaking, Effective Writing, Listening Course, Leadership and Team Building. For more information on the components of Personal Enrichment, refer to their respective manuals.

Effective Speaking consists of giving an icebreaker, doing an impromptu speech, giving a report, and preparing an in-depth presentation. Effective Writing consists of writing goals, composing a letter, writing an article, and preparing a more in-depth extended writing. Once a member has participated and completed the components of either or both of these areas, this member is able to certify and is recognized with a certificate from the national organization for Effective Speaking, Effective Writing or both. NOTE: The components do not have to be completed within the Women of Today activities, but rather can be done in a member's personal, professional or social activities.

The purpose of the Listening Course is to help members develop good listening skills. The manual is full of listening exercises to utilize in creating good listening skills. The United States Women of Today require that a listening course be at least a half hour to two hours in length. Use as many exercises as you need to fulfill that requirement. Be sure to send a list of members that completed the course to your state program manager upon completion of the course.

Leadership and Team Building offer our members a base for becoming a good leader. This not only benefits the individual, but also benefits our organization by producing good leaders within our group. As with Effective Writing and Speaking, the national organization offers certification and recognition to its members who invest a minimum of thirty (30) minutes in a leadership or team building training program.

Personal Enrichment Competitions

Competition in Effective Writing is offered at both national conventions with Effective Speaking at annual only. Each year the program manager creates a theme for both areas. Effective Speaking competitors must be present at convention to give their 4- to 6-minute speech, but Effective Writing competitors do not have to be present at convention to submit their essays of 600-800 words. To compete in Effective Writing, four copies double spaced along with the $5 entry fee must be submitted to the USWT PE Program Manager no later than the due date listed on the submission form. To compete in Effective Speaking, the completed submission form along with the $5 fee must be sent to the USWT PE Program Manager no later than the due date on the submission form.

Success Through Enthusiastic Participation (STEP)

The STEP program is a tool used to promote growth and activation of the individual Women of Today member. STEP I familiarizes the new member with local, district and state events; it must be completed within the first 90 days of membership. STEP II will also get a member activated in the local, district and state levels, and is for the member of 12 months or less. STEP III leads to continued activation on various levels of our organization; it is for those members who have belonged to our organization for longer than one (1) year, or any member in good standing that leaves the organization for any period of time and rejoins at a later date.

A member may certify in STEP I and II only once during their Women of Today membership. A member can certify in STEP III every year except the first year. All members should be encouraged to complete these programs. When the requirements have been met, the member should be congratulated. These members are some of the most active members in the Women of Today organization. For more information about the STEP program, refer to the STEP Manual.

STEP Year-End Competitions

STEP II and III each have an annual competition. STEP II is a resume submission only, while STEP III is a resume submission and an oral interview. You need not be present at Annual Convention for competing in STEP II, but your presence is required to compete in STEP III. Both competitions required four copies of the corresponding resume along with a $5 entry fee must be submitted to the USWT STEP Program Manager postmarked May 1 to be eligible.

External Programming Area

The United States Women of Today offer their members a variety of programs that not only help them with their own personal growth and development, but also encourage them to work with selected foundations. Every three years members select an established foundation to work with in promoting both Women of Today and the chosen foundation. The national program manager works with the foundation and its branch offices in member states to present educational materials and fundraiser suggestions to the state and local levels. In the past, USWT has worked with POAC (Parents of Autistic Children), March of Dimes, Leukemia Foundation, RESOLVE, and Breast Cancer Awareness. Since there were on external bids presented in June 2007, the USWT adopted Domestic Violence Prevention for a one year term.

Officer Responsibilities

All officer responsibilities on the national level are preformed by the designated position. Those on the state and local level may or may not be performed by the designated position; however, the designated officer should oversee each of the responsibilities that are delegated to another individual. For example, the national newsletter is the responsibility of the secretary on the national level, but may be the responsibility of a program manager on the state or local level.

It is the responsibility of the national officer to distribute information to the state officer; each state officer will then pass on this information to all local chapters in their respective state. It is the responsibility of the local officer to distribute information to the state officers; who will then pass on this information to the national officer. In this fashion, organizational practices and projects are reported at all levels. The local officers should also feel welcome to approach the national officers as well.

All officers listed in this section should attend the business meetings of their respective organization level. National staff and state presidents are required to attend all national conventions. United States Women of Today

National Meetings

The national president will publish details about meetings and your role at them at least one month prior to the meeting. This information will include appropriate dress, information and materials needed, training participation and schedules, committee meetings, etc.

Mid-Year Convention

The Mid-Year Convention is a Board of Directors meeting, without a general membership meeting; everyone is welcome to attend. State Presidents are voting delegates. The Mid-Year Convention has forums, training session and entertainment for attendees. The Executive Committee generally meets the evening before the meeting actually begins. National staff and state presidents will be asked to arrive on time for meetings and committee responsibilities. These times are set at the discretion of the national president.

Annual Convention

The Annual Convention is held the second full weekend in June. There is a meeting of the general membership, at which votes are taken by using the proportionate voting system. There is also an outgoing and incoming Board of Directors meeting.

A state president's roundtable is held on Friday evening. The weekend concludes by noon on Sunday. The national president will send specific requests to you as the Annual Convention approaches. Some items that state presidents have traditionally needed are:

- A state flag to carry during the opening ceremonies; sometimes a flag stand is also requested.
- Six to ten slides to include in the year-end slide show.
- Some small gift items to exchange with other state presidents, optional.
- State sharing table items to distribute to all convention attendees.

Convention Registration

Registration for the USWT Staff is built into the budget in most cases. This is a separate line item, not a part of the officer expenses. A registration form must be completed and sent to the national treasurer in advance of the deadline for early registration. The national treasurer prepares a check to the hosting chapter or state to cover the cost of all national officer registrations that were received in time to make the early registration price cut-off. If you register late, you will need to pay the difference between the early and late registration fee. If you register for a meeting and then are unable to attend, you will be responsible for reimbursing the United States Women of Today for the registration cost.

Committee Meetings

Committee meetings are held at each national meeting, usually after the Executive Committee meeting, but prior to the Board of Directors meeting. The purpose of the committee meetings is to review procedures and programs of the United States Women of Today, and to make recommendations for additions or changes; this includes changes to the bylaws and policies.

All members of the Board of Directors serve on one or more committees. These committee assignments are made shortly after the Annual Convention in June. General members may also serve on national committees upon request and approval by the national president.

Committee Chairs

1. Two weeks prior to the national meetings, send a mailing that includes minutes from the previous meeting, an agenda, and a letter that explains any items that are coming up to all committee members.
2. At the meeting:
 - a. Bring a minimum of 15 copies of the minutes and agenda; the minutes will need to be approved at your meeting.

- b. Appoint a secretary; this person should be a member of the committee.
 - c. Keep the meeting moving, as you have a lot to accomplish in a short amount of time.
 - d. Committee meetings are open to anyone.
 - e. Anyone may speak; only committee members may vote.
 - f. Complete a committee synopsis form and give it to the national president.
3. Immediately following the meeting, bylaw and policy proposals should be turned over to the national parliamentarian.
 4. Following the national meeting, type the minutes from the committee meeting for printing in the next national president's newsletter, and mail the minutes to the national president and the members of the committee.

Sharing Tables

Mid-Year Convention

At mid year meeting the staff promote their areas through sharing tables, offering displays, handouts, games, and more to encourage participation in their areas. Some years, there is a theme for the staff to follow and in other years; it is up to each individual staff member as to how they will promote their area. This is a good way to share ideas and information with the membership.

Annual Convention

At annual convention, state presidents/contacts have tables to share items from their states. This can be food, key chains, any small items made in their states. It is the responsibility of the states to get these items donated and to the convention facility. This can be a good way of sharing amongst members across the nation.

Staff Reports

National staff members will be asked to compile a report on their area for distribution at each national meeting. It should be sent to the national secretary, supervising officer and national president by the deadline specified. Any additions to the report should be given to the national secretary following the meeting so that the minutes can accurately reflect any additions or changes.

National staff members will be asked to prepare a year-end recap of activity for his/her area. This should cover participation figures, list of awards and recognition recipients, and any recommendations for the appropriate area. The report should be specific to the area over which each staff member has responsibility. Everything that falls under their responsibility should be explained on this report. Do not list quantities of mail sent or received. The national president will inform each officer of specific instruction about printing.

Write out a script to report efficiently at the meetings. It is a highlight of the staff report; cover the major points and select items of interest to all members. Those interested in more detailed information can read the printed report. Keep a copy for your records, and send one (1) copy to the national president.

State President Information

Each state president is a member of the Board of Directors and is encouraged to attend both conventions. Each state is allowed one vote at the Mid-Year Board of Directors meeting; whereas proportionate voting occurs at the Annual Convention.

There will be state presidents' roundtables at each national meeting. This will be for training and celebrating successes. There will be a chance for each state to share details on what has happened in their state at each national meeting such as amount of dollars raised, certifications completed, special projects held, new member/renewal information (i.e., growth, etc) a chance to brag about the wonderful things that have happened for the year.

United States Women of Today

Miscellaneous Information

Communications

Chapter Mailings

Staff members will be asked to contribute to additional mailings as requested by the national president. States can expect to receive mailings containing membership and programming information on a quarterly basis.

State Information Packets (SIP)

National staff members are asked to compile information packets to be handed out at the Mid-Year Convention promoting their areas and updating on promotions for the second half of the year. Each state president and national staff member receives a copy of this information pack with staff being encouraged to include a copy for their state contacts. Staff can also provide packets at annual to get information out for the beginning of the year.

Monthly Reports & Communication Log

Staff and state presidents are expected to complete and submit monthly reports to the national president. It is important for verification of communication expenses to keep a record of outgoing and incoming correspondence and phone calls. A copy of the communication log should be sent with your monthly report.

Training Packets

Training materials are mailed to outgoing state presidents; these packets are to be utilized while training incoming officers and information passed on to succeeding officers. Each national staff member puts together training information on their area to utilize in training the new state officer, program manager, or director. This will go out during the month of March; the state should be able to take the information and use to train the new officers for the year.

Travel & Visitation Reports

If an officer chooses to travel to another state as a representative of the national organization, travel expenses may be taken out of your officer budget. However, since that budget is not large enough to cover everything, you should ask the state how much they are able to cover for you; then make your decision.

Everyone should feel free to invite national staff members to be your guest at state and local functions. Do realize that these individuals are on a limited budget, so they will appreciate any reimbursement. As a courtesy, the state or local organization should provide registration and room for the national guest. If there are unusual circumstances, or a limited budget, do not let that deter your request; many staff members want to travel and will be glad to assume expenses.

When a national guest is coming, put your guest to work! Take advantage of your guest by having them train, serve as a guest speaker, attend committee meetings, or judge for competitions. Also inform your guest of any special activities so that they can be prepared (i.e., appropriate dress).

National staff members should prepare for visits by asking the requestor how to help during the visit. Make the most of the experience by participating in as many activities as possible. Find out what kind of meeting will occur so that you can dress appropriately. Also remember to notify the national president of the visitation and seek suggestions. A Visitation Report should be completed and mailed to the national president within one week following the visitation.

File Maintenance

Officers are asked to maintain files for their area of concern. Be sure to keep copies of files you will pass on to your successor. These files can include:

- All outgoing mailings
- Newsletter articles
- Local chapter mailing articles
- Vice President mailing articles
- Meeting reports
- State Information Packets
- Awards lists from both conventions; include incentives
- Membership SODA

Do not keep copies of your monthly reports, national newsletters, or correspondence received during your term. Keep the files condensed, but include everything you did to promote your area.

Manuals & Materials

All manuals produced and distributed by the United States Women of Today should remain in the files of the officers to whom they were given. DO NOT KEEP THEM FOR YOUR PERSONAL USE. The following manuals have been distributed and should remain in your files: The last revision date is listed below and each manual should be reviewed every three (3) years.

Be sure that one copy of each of the above-mentioned manuals are in your files. Current national manuals can also be purchased from the national store. Complimentary copies of manuals should be given to past national presidents wishing to have one.

Procedures for Developing Manuals and Materials

The development or revisions of manual or other materials must be channeled through the Material Review Committee, and approved by the Finance, Bylaw Review and Executive Committees. Cost to produce these materials, unless budgeted, must be covered in the officer's expense or by full or partial sponsorship.

Expense Voucher

There are two kinds of expense vouchers: Officer Expense and Miscellaneous.

The Officer Expense Voucher is for expenses, which are paid out of the amount allotted in each officer's allotted budget. Officer expenses include such things as communication expenses (postage and phone bills), supplies, copying, incentives, travel expenses and miscellaneous expenses. In short, those types of expenses incurred as an officer for doing the designated job duties. Receipts must accompany the voucher. A communication log is not an acceptable receipt for communication expenses; you must submit an actual phone bill or receipt for postage to be reimbursed. The voucher is to be sent to the national treasurer with a copy to the national president.

The Miscellaneous Voucher is for all line items other than officer expenses. A separate officer expense voucher should be completed for expenses incurred for competition, since this is a separate line item on the budget. The expenditure of any monies against those line items is only with the approval of the national president. The original voucher with receipt should be sent first to the national president. If the national president approves the expenditure, the voucher will be signed and sent to the national treasurer for reimbursement.

Approved vouchers will be reimbursed with a check made out to the requestor or the appropriate vendor. The check will be sent after being signed by both the national treasurer and the national president.

United States Women of Today Awards & Honors

Most officers, program managers and directors offer incentive programs to individual state and local members; these programs change from year to year. News about them is published in the "Today's Leader," on the website, in special mailings and vice president mailings, and at national meetings. The following are national awards, listed in order of honor, given out annually. Please see their respective nomination form (if applicable) for more details on each award.

Ambassador Award

The Ambassador Award represents the highest recognition a member of the United States Women of Today can receive. A nominee must have membership in the Women of Today for a minimum of five years in order to be eligible. A good nomination will include many details about the accomplishments the nominee has had. Use the letters to your advantage by including pertinent information on the impact this individual has had. Avoid the use of flowery language, which tells little of accomplishments.

A chapter, district, region or state can submit nominations. The signature of the supervising officer at the level initiating the nomination is required (i.e., the local chapter president). If the nominee holds this position, then the next ranking officer should sign. State presidents will receive each ambassador nomination originating in their own state; the state president reviews the nomination, and his/her signature on the form indicates approval of the nomination. Carefully consider each nomination. The nomination must be submitted to the USWT Ambassador President at least six (6) weeks prior to the requested date of presentation. The nomination form outlines all necessary information, and must be retyped with the requested information in an outline format.

Any questions regarding this award or a nomination may be directed to the USWT Ambassador President.

Presidential Award of Excellence

The national president uses her discretion to select outstanding elected officer at each convention. This award is given to those officers that have gone above and beyond the call of duty to ensure a strong future for the Women of Today. There is no nomination form; however the national president accepts recommendations.

Programming Award of Excellence

The national president uses her discretion to select outstanding staff members at each convention. This award is given to the program managers or directors that have gone above and beyond the call of duty to ensure a strong future for the Women of Today. There is no nomination form; however the national president accepts recommendations.

Outstanding National Officer/Staff Member

The national president uses her discretion to recognize outstanding officer(s) and outstanding staff member(s) at Annual Convention with a plaque. The president takes into consideration what each officer and staff member has done and how much participation/activity was garnered due to their promotion. The officer and staff member chosen as the most outstanding of the year have really made a difference in their positions. There is no nomination form but any member can make recommendations to the national president.

Outstanding State President

The national president recognizes outstanding state presidents at the annual convention. It is up to her discretion on how many state presidents are recognized. Each award recipient receives a plaque. Each state president chosen has truly made a difference in her state, motivating her staff and members to be the best they can be, increasing membership, programming participation, and being an innovator. There is no nomination form for this, but any member can make a recommendation to the national president if they feel a state president is deserving of this honor.

Outstanding Local and State Officers

Special year-end recognition is available to local and state officers. It is the responsibility of the state president to submit officers from his/her state for consideration. See the form for more details. Twenty-five local and twenty-five state officers will be chosen as the most outstanding in the nation. There is a proportionate number of outstanding local and state officer awards given per state depending on membership numbers. The national president has final determination as to who will receive the award.

USWT Presidential Medallions

All Board of Director members are eligible to receive a medallion throughout the year. Medallions are given at the each convention. There is not a nomination form, though anyone may make a recommendation to the president. The president uses her discretion to award medallions to those members of the board of directors who have done more than what is expected in their position.

USWT Presidential Pins

One hundred USWT Presidential Pins are awarded to members throughout the nation during each year. These pins recognize outstanding contributions and leadership in Women of Today. State presidents and national staff may nominate members to be recognized. All nominations should be as specific as possible; the national president does not know each person well enough to make a personal decision. Detailed information about the contributions the member has made is needed; list significant accomplishments and reasons why the member has made a lasting impact. The national president will give pins at national conventions, but may also present them upon request at state or other meetings.

All American Chapter

The All American Chapter is a program designated to provide recognition for those Women of Today chapters who have planned and accomplished a well-rounded program of projects and activities. These chapters exemplify the USWT Creed. Accomplishments of these activities will help the chapter provide the opportunities of leadership training, community service, personal enrichment, and fellowship for its members. The program is published at the beginning of the year; chapters have the entire year to complete it. Completed forms are to be mailed to the national president by the deadline date, usually May 10 of each year.

Outstanding Achievement in Programming

This award is set up to recognize those members who participate in all areas of programming offered by the United States Women of Today. Members that certify in four areas of Personal Enrichment, STEP, Focus on Women or Chaplain, participate in a program involving the External Programming Area, a program offered by the state (i.e., Ronald McDonald House, March of Dimes, American Cancer Society, etc.), and participate in a competition are eligible for this award and can send in the form to the USWT Programming Vice President.

US Founders Club Charities

The US Founders Club Charities was established in 1988 with its primary objective being that of service through charitable and educational avenues. It is a non-profit, publicly supported organization funded through voluntary contributions from individuals and corporations who support its programs. Through these programs, the US Founders Club Charities hopes to bring about civic betterment and social improvement. It also promotes the goals and objectives of the United States Women of Today.

- Emphasis Month – during the month of September, members are educated about the USWT Foundation through mailings. During the month of March, members are encouraged to make donations to the foundation.
- Grants – funds that are usually solicited from companies are requested for specific programs or areas.
